

- (b) Otherwise, the customs office of exit is the last office before the goods leave the customs territory of the Union.

In cases of multi-modal exports by sea that are not covered by a STC, where goods are transported by sea from one Union port (for example, Dublin) via another Union port (for example, Antwerp) to a non-Union destination, the office of exit is the last customs office before the goods leave the customs territory of the Union. In this case Antwerp becomes the customs office of exit (Article 329(3) of the UCC IA refers).

3.4 Procedures at Customs Office of Export

3.4.1 General

This is the customs office where the formalities for goods destined to leave the customs territory of the Union are to be completed.

3.4.2 Typical formalities to be completed by the customs office of export

These formalities include:

- (a) The lodging and acceptance of a customs declaration for export, outward processing or, following a customs procedure with economic impact, for re-exportation.
- (b) Verification of the declaration and supporting documents and the examination of the goods.
- (c) Taking measures to ensure the identification of the goods.
- (d) Controls on goods that are subject to prohibitions or restrictions.
- (e) Safety and security risk analysis.
- (f) Ensuring a guarantee is lodged where required.
- (g) Issuing the MRN to the declarant.
- (h) Release of the goods for moving to the customs office of exit (if the customs office of export is not identical with the customs office of exit).
- (i) Forwarding the "Anticipated Export Record" message to the customs office of exit.
- (j) Confirmation of exit to the exporter/declarant.
- (k) Initiating the inquiry procedure on open movements after 90 days.

Note: * These formalities are carried out within the AES system.

3.4.3 Customs office of export also acting as customs office of exit

This arises occasionally because:

- (a) Goods are declared for export or re-export at a customs office at the point of exit from the customs territory of the Union.
- (b) Goods are declared for export or re-export at the same customs office where they are taken over under a single transport contract for transport out of the customs territory of the Union.
- (c) Goods are declared for export or re-export and transit at the same customs office.
