

- (a) Supplies within the Union for victualling to seagoing vessels and aircraft on international flights, including intra-Community flights.
- (b) Supplies to international organisations established in the Union.
- (c) Supplies to armed forces stationed in the territory of a Member State, but not serving under its command.

Article 269(3) of the UCC provides that an export declaration is also required where Union goods are delivered tax exempt as aircraft and ship supplies, regardless of the destination of the aircraft or ship.

Under the UCC (Article 6(1)), the exchange and storage of information shall be made using electronic means. As not all electronic systems were deployed by 1 May 2016 (when the UCC became law), Article 278 of the UCC provided the legal basis for transitional measures to be applied pending the upgrading or the development of the relevant IT systems to create a fully electronic customs environment. Further information on the schedule for these developments can be found in the UCC Work Programme

These transitional measures are contained in the Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2016/341 (The Transitional Delegated Act and associated Annexes) (TDA).

These provisions provide for the retention of existing data sets and means of exchange of information until such time as the appropriate electronic systems are deployed to replace them.

1.4 Types of export

There are three specific types of export as follows:

- (a) Direct exports: goods leave Ireland directly for their destination outside the Union.
- (b) Indirect exports: goods leave Ireland, travel through another Member State and exit that Member State for a third Country.
- (c) Exports made on the basis of a Single Transport Contract: although goods leave Ireland and travel through another Member State, exit the member state for a 3rd country (in the same way as indirect exports) they are treated as if they are direct exports and all customs formalities are completed in Ireland if the declarant specifically requests this treatment.

Each of these categories is dealt with in detail in this manual.

1.5 Stages in the export procedure

For all three categories of export, it is necessary for the exporter to submit an electronic declaration before exportation of the goods, together with details of any necessary licences and authorisations. In Ireland export declarations are processed through the electronic Automated Export System (AES).

The declaration is submitted to the customs office of export through AES. In the case of direct exports (and those made on the basis of a Single Transport Contract at the request of the declarant), a single office in Ireland acts as both office of export and office of exit.
