

6.3 Accompanying Documents

Although all declarations are lodged electronically it is mandatory for the declarant to retain and if requested provide accompanying documents either original or electronic.

Article 51(1) UCC requires that all necessary documents from declarations, must be retained for 3 years, from the end of the year in which the declaration is accepted.

In the case of declarations called for a documentary and/or physical control prior to clearance, these documents or a copy thereof are also retained by Revenue. In all cases the declarant is obliged to retain all accompanying documents together with the MRN of the corresponding declaration for the aforementioned time period, and must produce these documents at the request of Revenue.

Declarants must indicate, by inserting the appropriate code in dataset 2/3 of the H declaration, confirming they are in possession of accompanying documents available for inspection at the request of Revenue. Please refer to section 2.8 of the AIS Code list for the appropriate code(s).

Declarations which include prohibited goods where an import licence is required. The declarant must endorse (stamp and sign) and retain the required licence for 3 years together with the accompanying documents. The endorsement will include the quantity of licenced goods relevant to specific importations. If the licence is active and is required for use elsewhere by the declarant a copy including the endorsed area is to be retained. Selective checks may be carried out by Customs Audit Officers against the original documents.

6.4 Amending a declaration

6.4.1 General

The declarant may, with approval, be allowed to modify one or more details of the declaration subsequent to its acceptance by Revenue.

However, any such amendment cannot have the effect of applying the declaration to goods other than those which it originally covered.

6.4.2 Exceptions

No modifications to a declaration are permitted following any of the subsequent events (Article 173 (2) UCC):

- Revenue has informed the declarant that they wish to examine the goods.
- Revenue have established that the particulars of the declaration are incorrect.
- Revenue have released the goods.
